Ten Mile Christian Church

religious | meridian, idaho

The 40-acre campus master plan by BRS Architects is designed to enhance the buildings integration with the sites natural water way while accommodating the 25,000 visitors expected per day in its final form. The concept has been developed around the Cherry Lane Church vision of growing into a regional center for worship that strengthens its community through its outreach and recovery ministries. The site will be home to a ten-phase master planned campus with three main buildings and parking for over 1,600 cars.

The final construction will include a 256,000 square foot worship and education center and a 57,000 square foot gymnasium with classrooms and an administration building. Buildings will be located adjacent the Ten-Mile Creek and its existing natural habitat. Other site features will include a bike path, foot bridge, rose garden, recreation area, and playground.
