King of Glory Lutheran Church, built in 1977, undertook a one million dollar expansion and remodel of its' facilities in 2004. The design included a new administrative office suite and classroom addition, with substantial remodeling to the existing sanctuary and narthex. The site was developed to improve security, landscaping and sidewalk access. Fifty new parking stalls were added. The new design created clearly defined entries with vehicle access lanes for loading and unloading.

The existing building was completely renovated with modern finishes and architectural details to match the new construction. This improved the image and sense of community through out the church campus. The remodel and addition resulted in a 20,700 square foot facility.
